Rs. 1,000 crore needed to save city's heritage structures

Mayor to meet CM at Belagavi

MCC releases Rs. 44 lakh for restoration of Silver Jubilee Clock Tower

Mysuru, Dec. 22 (MTY&BCT)- The run-up to the State Budget is always marked by preparation of wish lists and this time, Mysuru Mayor Shivakumar will lead a delegation to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, who holds the Finance portfolio, urging him to release Rs. 1,000 crore to give a facelift to the heritage buildings in Mysuru that are in dilapidated conditions. What prompted the Mayor to take this decision is the demand raised by JD(S) MLCs C.N. Manjegowda and Marithibbegowda in the Legislative Council asking the CM to earmark Rs. 1,000 crore in the Budget for the conservation of heritage structures in Mysuru that need desperate attention due to their dilapidated state. (See report on Page-8).

Speaking to reporters on the sidelines of the inauguration of 'Avarekai Food Mela' at Nanjaraja Bahadur Choultry this morning, Mayor Shivakumar said that he will lead a delegation to meet the CM at Belagavi where the winter session is on and seek Rs. 1,000 crore grants.

"We will go there in a day or two before the Session ends as the District Minister S.T. Somashekar has asked us to meet the CM there as it might be difficult to get him in Bengaluru after the session ends," he said. The Mayor said that he has already discussed the desperate need to save the heritage buildings with Minister Somashekar.

Change Vande Bharat and Shatabdi train timings: MLC

Belagavi, Dec. 22 (BCT)- Though it is a double dhamaka for thousands of travellers from Mysuru to Chennai via Bengaluru as they can now either travel in the Vande Bharat Express Chennai-Bengaluru-Mysuru or Shatabdi Express, the timings of both the trains are almost the same, with only a minor difference.

The Vande Bharat Express leaves Chennai at 5.50 am, just 10 minutes ahead of Shatabdi's 6 am departure. In the return direction, it leaves Mysuru at 1.05 pm, about an hour before Shatabdi. In a way, the two trains are ending up competing with each other.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

When it comes to parking cars and other automobiles in towns, those on wheels have a harrowing time looking for a suitable space to park their vehicles. Here I relate an incident where my wife and I, accompanied by our son, his wife, and daughter, had a difficult row to hoe when we returned to the parking lot at a late hour in the night after feasting our eyes on the beauty of the Brindavan Gardens (KRS) near Mysuru. Finding our small Santro amidst three big school buses, all parked cheek by jowl around it, we stood perplexed for a moment, not knowing how to take it out. After a little while, assisted by a few good men, present around the spot, luckily for us, we managed to push those buses — all leviathans compared to our small car — and reverse our car up to the entrance to the parking lot. Thanking the valet and others profusely who did us a good turn with nothing in return, we got into our car and hit the road to Mysuru.

Given the rising number of four-wheelers these days, particularly cars in all the States, the provision of separate parking lots for cars and other species of vehicles is a huge relief. Particularly, separate parking for cars is a boon to their hapless owners, who can now breathe a sigh of relief from tiffs, brawls, slanging matches, and even road rages that cause gridlock.

On the lines of Yamuna Expressway, Ganga Expressway and Narmada Expressway

Name Mysuru-Bengaluru Road as Cauvery Expressway: MP urges Union Minister

Mysuru, Dec. 22 (BCT)- With just months left for the inauguration of the long-pending and ambitious 10-lane Access-Controlled Expressway between Mysuru and Bengaluru, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha has urged Union Minister for Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari to name the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway after River Cauvery.

The MP also wrote to the Union Minister explaining why the Expressway deserves to be named Cauvery Expressway.

In the letter, Simha wrote, "The partially opened 119-km 10-lane Access-Controlled Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway is being executed under Bharatmala Pariyojana Phase-I. The benefit from this Expressway is multi-dimensional with economic growth, social inclusion and empowerment, environmental conservation and the like being the major highlights."

Meeting the Minister in New Delhi and submitting the letter, Simha further explained that many Expressways across the country are named after sacred rivers. "Expressways constructed or under construction in the country are named after sacred rivers-like the Yamuna Expressway and the Ganga Expressway in Uttar Pradesh and Narmada Expressway in Madhya Pradesh as rivers have shaped history, culture, traditions and faith in our country weaving their way through-giving life, hope and salvation — all at once," Simha added.

The MP also said many people and historians from his Constituency and outside have requested him for naming the Expressway after the river. "The prominent citizens in my Parliamentary Constituency, including historians, have urged me to impress upon the Union Government to name the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway as Cauvery Expressway in reverence to one of the holiest rivers in the country which rises on Brahmagiri Hills of the Western Ghats of Kodagu district, which is a part of my Constituency. I hope the Union Government proposes the same," wrote Simha.

The MP also stated that the Centre has consented to release Rs. 100 crore to develop the Exhibition Grounds of the Karnataka Exhibition Authority under 'Swadesh Darshan' Scheme.

Upgrade roads to National Highways

Pratap Simha has urged Nitin Gadkari to declare certain State Highways in Mysuru, Mandya, Kodagu and Hassan districts as new National Highways (NH) to boost growth. He has proposed the 118-km Channarayapatna-Holenarsipura-Arkalgudu-Kodlipete-Madikeri-Virajpet Road, connecting Makutta in Kerala border as a National Highway.

"This road is of huge economic importance to Kodagu and Hassan as it connects many tourist destinations. If the road is upgraded, it will boost travel to Kodagu from Hassan as well as Kerala from the Kannur International Airport," the MP said.

He also urged the Minister to declare the 160-km Mysuru-Hunsur-Gonikoppa Road, connecting Kerala as a National Highway to boost the industrial sector and help domestic and international tourists, connecting the Kannur Airport with Ooty and Mysuru.

The 90-km Kalpetta-Manandavadi-H.D. Kote-Jayapura Road connecting Mysuru will boost connectivity between Kerala and Karnataka. Pratap Simha has urged to declare the 56-km Srirangapatna-K.R. Pet-Channarayapatna Road connecting Arasikere and 110-km Pandavapura-Arasikere Road connecting K.R. Pet too as a National Highway.

The MP has proposed to declare the 50-km Malavalli-Mysuru Road as a National Highway as it connects National Highways 209 and 275 — a parallel alignment with Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway considering future traffic growth.

How can entry to Maddur be in Ramanagara district?

MLC Dinesh Gooligowda raises flaws in Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway in Council

New Delhi/Belagavi, Dec. 22 (BCT)- Additional underpasses and subways on the Mysuru-Bengaluru 10-lane Expressway for vehicles to move and pedestrians to cross was raised in the Legislative Council yesterday by MLC Dinesh Gooligowda who said that the entry and exit points that have been facilitated at Nidaghatta are not comprehensive and would not serve the purpose. Likewise, the entry and exit point near Chamundeshwari Hospital in Channapatna for the people of Mandya is illogical. He said that the Highway has caused injustice to the people of Mandya and there must be a public debate before the much-touted project is inaugurated and corrective measures have to be taken.

Dinesh Gooligowda

His question was answered by Public Works Department Minister C.C. Patil but Dinesh expressed dissatisfaction over the reply and said in a statement that he had earlier discussed the issue with Mandya District Minister, MP Sumalatha Ambarish and the Project Director of National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) about the entry and exits and even went on a field study to ascertain the ground-level problems.

"During the inspection, I and the people of Mandya were assured that changes will be made to facilitate the local people and local transport. But the appeals have fallen on deaf ears and injustice has been meted out to the people of Mandya. How can entry to Maddur be in Ramanagara district? The entry and exit points only facilitate commuters from Maddur via Kestur, Kunigal, K.M. Doddi, Malavalli, Besagarahalli and Koppa," he noted.

NHAI has provided underpasses wherever there are hotels, restaurants and prominent layouts but they have denied the same to villagers, he said.

Many villagers have complained that it was difficult to cross the access-controlled Highway as there are no underpasses. "I was told that a proposal would be submitted to the Centre and the issue would be brought to the notice of both CM Basavaraj Bommai and Union Minister for Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari. But this has not been done," Dinesh said.

Highway works unscientific: Sumalatha in Parliament

Meanwhile, Mandya MP Sumalatha Ambarish too raised the issue of the Highway in the Parliament and said that there were many issues in the Highway including unscientific works that have been ignored despite repeated raising of the issues by the elected representatives.

Sumalatha

"Of course, the Highway will improve the journey between Mysuru and Bengaluru but the people of Mandya are facing problems as the 10-lane road passes through my Constituency. I have inspected the under-construction Expressway many times and I have brought the issues to the attention of CM Basavaraj Bommai but the issues have not been addressed," she said.

"Unscientific works have been undertaken as the Highway passing through Mandya - Maddur and Srirangapatna cannot even withstand the rain and the road was blocked for days when it rained heavily, putting commuters into a lot of inconvenience. Arrangements have not been made for the water to pass and this is a basic requirement," she said, drawing the attention of the Parliament.

"I have been fighting with NHAI officials for the past three years and I have informed the Union Minister of Road Transport and Highways, the Chief Minister and the District Minister about the flaws of the project that are yet to be rectified," she said.

Abracadabra... Abracadabra...

By K.B. Ganapathy

Godman Chandraswami & Margaret Thatcher

When iron melts, you get molten. When Iron Lady dies, you get either ash if cremated or dust, if buried — "dust thou art and to dust thou shalt return."

Now that the former British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, known as the Iron Lady of Great Britain, has died, we know that being a Christian she will be given a burial and the 'iron' in this case will become 'dust.'

Death is a great leveller, no doubt. It is only in life we are different. But yet, on some personal matters, all humans, high and low, behave the same. For example, like it happened with Margaret Thatcher, as revealed by former Indian diplomat and Minister K. Natwar Singh in his new book 'Walking with Lions: Tales from a Diplomatic Past.'

Chandraswami is India's notorious VIP Godman, patronised by many rich and famous personalities like actor Elizabeth Taylor and former Prime Minister of India P.V. Narasimha Rao. He was considered a Siddhi, Tantric and astrologer. He was arrested in 1996 on charges of financial irregularities and was allegedly involved in Rajiv Gandhi's assassination. He was, in short, a disgraced Godman at the end. Nobody talks about him now.

According to Natwar Singh, when he was serving in London as the Deputy High Commissioner in 1975, Chandraswami telephoned and invited him to meet him at his place in London. Singh declined and asked Chandraswami to meet him at his office in 'India House' if he wanted. Chandraswami yielded. He was young, in his twenties then. Did not speak a word of English. It seems, he does now. He was a great name dropper too. A few days later, he goes to see Natwar Singh and invites him and his wife for dinner with him. After dinner, Chandraswami was at his game, so to say. I am sure many of our readers may have experienced this game which looks like mumbojumbo but cannot be dismissed as hoax because you are right there to experience it. I have experienced it too, but about it later.

Chandraswami Margaret Thatcher Yogi Arka

Chandraswami gave three strips of paper to Natwar Singh's wife and asked her to write a question on each strip, make a ball and place each one on a square on the chess board. She wrote the question in English. "He closed his eyes and went into a trance." He asked Natwar Singh's wife to pick up any of the paper balls and open it. Chandraswami then told her what the question was. He was correct. He got the other two questions also right. Natwar Singh and his wife were amazed.

Natwar Singh, a good raconteur, does not tell us either about the questions or about the answers Chandraswami must have given to her. Of course, it is understandable because the questions and answers were very private. But Natwar Singh could have quenched the curiosity of his readers by saying at least what were the questions posed by his wife or if his predictions had come true. Let it be. What is interesting is what comes next.

Chandraswami, having demonstrated his tantric powers to Natwar Singh and winning his confidence, wanted the latter to introduce him to Lord Mountbatten or Mrs. Margaret Thatcher, who was then the Leader of the Conservative Party. She was not yet the Iron Lady, Natwar Singh reminds us ! Reading it, I was left wondering at the temerity and impertinence of a twenty-plus old Chandraswami; his audacity.

Now to cut a long story short, Natwar Singh was all too willing to oblige the tantric. He rang up Lord Mountbatten who stuck to his priority of a holiday rather than meeting an unknown "friend" of Natwar Singh. That was it. As for Margaret Thatcher, Natwar Singh goes to her office personally and tells her the purpose of his visit. Her response was: "If you think I should meet him, I shall. What does he want to see me for?"

"That he will tell you himself," said Natwar Singh.

"Only ten minutes, Deputy High Commissioner," she told him rather firmly.

At the meeting, Chandraswami repeated the same drill with Mrs. Margaret Thatcher as he did with Singh's wife but now instead of three questions it was five. Here too we are told neither about the questions nor about the answers. However, the fact that Margaret Thatcher was overwhelmed by the response of Chandraswami was clear. She sought another appointment with him which was fixed at Natwar Singh's house. Here she asked many questions but the most important one related to her chances of becoming Prime Minister.

Chandraswami predicted that she would be Prime Minister for nine, eleven or thirteen years.

Mrs. Thatcher put one final question: When would she become Prime Minister?

Chandraswami: In three or four years.

He was proved right. She was Prime Minister for eleven years. Chandraswami did not do any miracle to make Mrs. Margaret Thatcher Prime Minister. He simply saw her future. Like Nostradamus. That future, of course, was predetermined. Which was why he could make the prophesy. Right? Which is why people believe in astrology and also in destiny. Even if Chandraswami did not predict her future, she would have become what she was destined to become. Only she must have felt more confident and reassured of herself of her future position after hearing Chandraswami. She must have felt happy too, like all of us do, on hearing a beneficial prediction. All the same there is something intriguing, something mysterious about a Godman or tantric or astrologer or a Siddipurush who can peek into your future.

Here in this case, Chandraswami must have already studied her horoscope or almanac and wanted to share with her the knowledge. For the same reason, probably, he wanted to see Lord Mountbatten who was headed to Northern Ireland and could not meet Chandraswami. Who knows, if Lord Mountbatten had met Chandraswami, he would have seen his future (as he did of Margaret Thatcher) and asked Lord Mountbatten not to go to Ireland during 1979 or thereabout. And who knows, he could have saved himself from the assassination ! However, it is a matter of conjecture whether Lord Mountbatten would have taken Chandraswami's prediction seriously and acted upon it.

Be that as it may, I would like to recount my own experience with this 'game' of question and answer the kind played by Chandraswami.

It was the year of Our Lord 1962. I was about six months into the office of one senior advocate Rego on Infantry Road, Bangalore, as his junior. I realised I was headed for a very long, tiresome, journey into the profession with dire financial implications. I was just about 22 years. I had two friends sailing in the same boat. One older to me was working for Shaw Wallace, totally unhappy. The other wanting to quit the job in Gammon Fer-Chem and take up law studies despite my advice to the contrary. We went to a 'famous' astrologer who worked with sea shells and charts once you give your date of birth. In our case it was different. He gave me three slips of paper and the proceedings were like with Chandraswami except I was not asked to make a ball but keep the strips blank-side up in front of him.

My first question: Should I continue as a lawyer?

Answer: No.

Second question: I have applied for a job. Will I get it?

Answer: No. Third question: What business is good for me?

Answer: Printing.

I told him I was not qualified to be a printer, that I was a junior lawyer. He then explained that printing could also mean typing, so you can open a typewriting institute. I got angry. Gave him his Rs. 2 as fee and vacated the place for my other two friends. See where I am today. Am I not a printer? I became a journalist in 1964 just two years after I met this astrologer. Thereafter, I have been connected with printing only. Was that astrologer wrong? In retrospect, I don't think so.

There was another experience too. I might have shared this experience with my readers some 25 years back.

In early '80s I had purchased two-and-a-half acres of dry land in Maratikyathanahalli close to Gaddige road, 8 kms from city. This was to develop a farm for weekend revelry with my friends. A cottage, a garden, a walk-way, palms and fruit trees — I deluded myself thus.

Alas, but water is life. There was no water in that land despite drilling seven borewells in a spirit of challenge. It became a joke. My banker did not show mercy. So I decided to sell it. I advertised in my own paper. Many came, none bought. Did not even bargain. I gave up.

Then one day, a family friend told me of Srinivas, Yogi Arka, who later became Mahaguru Arka, who was practicing astrology at Hotel Southern Star (now Regaalis) in a specially designed room given to him gratis by its then owner. Apparently, his prediction and advice must have helped the hotel owner. "You go to him. He may be able to guide you," said my friend.

I went to him. Once again the same drill that I had undergone in 1962 in Bangalore was repeated.

My first question: Will I get water in my farm land?

Arka: No. You will not.

Question: Will I be able to sell it?

Arka: Yes, you will.

Question: Will I get a good price when I sell it?

Answer: No.

Arka then advised me to sell it to whatever price I get now, otherwise it would be difficult to sell at all. Believe it or not, a buyer landed in my office with an advance and I sold the property.

The point to ponder is the euphoria I experienced ever since I met Yogi Arka till I executed the sale deed.

Another point to ponder is: From where do these mystics, call them Godmen or tantrics or siddhis, get this power of prophesy? GOK.

Asserting that she would strive for serving Mysuru to the best of her capability, she said she would continue with the good work of her predecessors and earn the confidence of people of the district.

Outgoing SP R. Chethan said the people of the district are cultured and peace loving. Pointing out that the Policing system here was different from others, he said he was thankful for the public, the elected representatives and his sub-ordinates for all the co-operation that they extended during his one-and-a-half year tenure as SP.

R. Chethan had taken charge as Mysuru SP on June 10, 2021, following the transfer of C.B. Ryshyanth.

COMEDK launches Innovation Hub in Mysuru

To increase employability of engineering students

Mysuru, Dec. 22 (BCT)- The Consortium of Medical, Engineering and Dental Colleges of Karnataka (COMEDK) has launched COMEDKARES, a programme to set up Innovation Hubs across Karnataka to enhance the quality of institutions. The objective is to support engineering students to stay up-to-date on the latest developments in technology.

In Mysuru, the Innovation Hub was launched yesterday on the Ooty Road, next to Kamat Madhuvana Hotel. It has been set up in collaboration with QS iGauge, a world renowned quality rating company.

Dean, Faculty of Engineering at VTU and Principal, Vidyavardhaka College of Engineering Dr. B. Sadashive Gowda, Executive Secretary, JSS Mahavidyapeetha Dr. C.G. Betsurmath, Vice-Chancellor, JSS Science and Technology University Dr. A.N. Santhosh Kumar, CII Mysuru Chairperson Supriya Salian and former Mysore University Syndicate Member H.A. Venkatesh and others were present at the event.

The Centre will run courses that will supplement the learning of students in addition to their regular college curriculum. Starting Dec. 17, the centres are running a summer internship programme followed by two six-month courses on innovation and design thinking. Programmes in artificial intelligence, machine learning, robotics, augmented reality will be introduced in the due course.

The fee for these courses will be minimal to ensure affordability. The Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU) recognising the merits of such hubs has extended support.

Technology-intensive initiative

Speaking about the initiative, COMEDK Chairman Dr. M.R. Jayaram said that jobs and workspaces of today are getting increasingly technology-intensive. Data sciences, artificial intelligence, augmented reality and meta are currently the buzzwords.

"Today, a majority of engineering students are not industry-ready and hence, need hands-on experience to enhance their theoretical lessons. Given the rapid pace at which technology and skills are evolving, a student needs to have suitable employable soft skills along with updated technological knowledge," he said.

"The objective of these hubs is to enable students of our engineering colleges to benefit, undertake projects, gain hands-on experience and nurture them into compassionate and competent technocrats. The design of the programme is in line with the National Education Policy and will eventually foster a sense of entrepreneurship and improve employability," he added.

Increases employability

CEO of ERA Foundation P. Muralidhar said that youth must be made more industrious and employable. "In the past decade, Governments have launched several programmes to help youth reach their full potential. COMEDKARES is also a step in this direction which aligns college education and skill development," he added.

The Phase 1 of the initiative will have eight Innovation Hubs in Mysuru, Kalaburagi, Mangaluru, Belagavi and four Innovation Hubs in Bengaluru. The Hubs will be equipped with high-end equipment (wood routing, laser cutting, 3D printers, AR-VR equipment, hand tools, computer software and UI–UX tools, etc.

Why the Hub is crucial

The Innovation Hub gains importance as technological advancements have created new challenges for engineers, prompting the inclusion of new practices in the engineering curriculum. As a result, engineers must have a clear understanding and goal in order to implement a project.

In fact, according to a study, only 7 percent of engineering graduates can handle core engineering tasks. Also, data from the Ministry of Human Resource Development says India has 6,214 engineering and technology institutions that are enrolling 2.9 million students, and approximately 1.5 million engineers enter the job market every year. However, they lack the skills necessary for employment.

COMEDKARES is an initiative that assists students from member institutions in becoming job-ready through skill enhancement courses focusing on data sciences, artificial intelligence, augmented reality, and so on.

Mysuru's crumbling heritage figures at Belagavi Session

Tourism Minister promises to visit falling structures; MLCs seek Rs. 1,000 crore in Budget

Belagavi, Dec. 22 (DM&BCT)- Tourism Minister Anand Singh has assured the Legislative Council that he will shortly visit Mysuru to inspect heritage structures including the Maharani's Science College, a portion of which collapsed about two months ago.

Anand Singh

Replying to the discussion under Rule 330 on the demand for budgetary allocation for conservation of heritage structures in Mysuru at the ongoing winter Assembly session in Belagavi, Singh said that in all, there are 131 listed heritage structures in Mysuru.

"An expert committee has been formed to submit a report on the status of these heritage structures and measures will be taken on repairs and conservation once the Committee submits its report. It is the responsibility of the District Administration as well as the departments which were occupying the heritage structures for the upkeep of the structures," he added.

The issue was raised by JD(S) MLCs C.N. Manjegowda and Marithibbegowda who said that there was a threat to several heritage buildings in Mysuru that were on the verge of collapsing.

Reassuring that he will shortly inspect the structures along with the Ministers concerned so that immediate restoration steps are taken, Anand Singh said heritage committees had been constituted in all districts of the State. Each of these committees have 27 members comprising officials, members of NGOs and heritage experts, he added.

Manjegowda Marithibbegowda

Raising the issue, Manjegowda and Marithibbegowda noted that that a portion of the first floor of the Chemistry Lab building of the century-old Maharani's Science College building on JLB Road came down on Oct. 21 causing widespread concern among the people and students and teachers had panicked.

Marithibbegowda said that the tragedy had been averted by the alert college authorities, who vacated the building minutes before the collapse. The MLC lamented that the authorities had not bothered to repair the building and even the Mysuru District Minister is yet to visit the collapsed structure of the college.

The MLCs said that after the collapse of a portion of Lansdowne Building and Devaraja Market over the last few years, the next to fall was the Maharani's Science College building. This is due to sheer neglect, they said.

Urging the Govt. to take immediate measures for safeguarding heritage structures, both the MLCs demanded that the Government frame laws on maintenance of heritage structures. They also wanted the Government to allocate Rs. 1,000 crore in the State Budget for heritage conservation and restoration.

"There are 213 legacy structures in Mysuru and of them, 133 need immediate repairs as any neglect will lead to loss of life and limb. We have information that the State is allotting Rs. 231 crore to repair the heritage structures and this grant is likely to come soon," Mayor Shivakumar said.

"During our meeting with the CM, we will convey the urgency to restore the heritage buildings and the damage Mysuru will suffer if more and more buildings fall like it happened with Lansdowne Building, Devaraja Market and a portion of Maharani's College. If the same situation continues, Mysuru will lose its Heritage City Tag," the Mayor added.

Silver Jubilee Clock Tower

Meanwhile, the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has sanctioned Rs. 44 lakh for the restoration of the Silver Jubilee Clock Tower located opposite the Town Hall in the heart of the city. The works will be taken up by the Department of Archaeology, Museums and Heritage soon.

Mayor Shivakumar said that the clock tower restoration work should be carried out under the guidance of heritage experts from the Department of Archaeology, Museums and Heritage.

In the past, the MCC had given administrative approval to take up the restoration works. Technical staff of the Department will take up the work soon. The Silver Jubilee Clock Tower also known as Dodda Gadiyara was installed by Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar in 1927 after completing 25 years of his rule.

In 2020, members of the District Heritage Expert Committee had visited the dilapidated heritage structure and collected samples of masonry material, lime mortar and a few iron pieces that had been rusted and sent to the Regional Conservation Laboratory (RCL), branch of National Research Laboratory for Conservation of Cultural Property for tests.

Change train timings

The issue of similar timings was raised by MLC Marithibbegowda in the Council yesterday. He said, "Both trains resume from Mysuru in a gap of one hour which is not convenient for passengers. It also causes revenue loss." Replying to the question, Housing and Infrastructure Development Minister V. Somanna assured the Council that the State Government would write to the Union Railway Minister requesting changes in the schedule of Vande Bharat and Shatabdi train services.

"The State Government has already formally requested the Railway Ministry to review schedules of the two trains but the Railway officials have maintained that it is difficult to change the timings," he said. Somanna said that as per the information shared by the South Western Railway, both the trains are running with good occupancy.
